CLEW'S CREW —

Clan Ramsay gives a lunch for Nautical Catering College chiefs

On Tuesday, December 17, Cayzer, Irvine & Co. Ltd. (represented by Mr. R. C. Miller, asst. manager and catering manager) were hosts to the governing body of the Nautical Catering College and their guests at a luncheon held on Clan Ramsay in Birkenhead.

Before the reception, Mr. Miller (who is a governor of the college) presented a ceramic plaque from the Association of Marine Catering Superintendents—of which he is chairman—to Mr. R. V. Beggs, the college principal, in the presence of Mr. H. Hambling and Mr. F. H. Heggs (chairman and deputy chairman of the governors, Nautical Catering College), Councillor C. Dickinson (chairman of the further education committee) and Mr. W. J. Norman (principal of the College of Art).

The plaque was to mark the

A.M.C.S. yearly awards of £50 divided between the two outstanding students in the Preliminary Nautical Catering Course in accordance with one of the objects of the association "to promote and encourage professional and craft training schemes."

The original ceramic, depicting the rear of a sixteenth-century galleon, was designed and made by Miss Betty Comber at the School of Industrial Design, Liverpool College of Art. Another ceramic made and designed by Miss Chua Tok Lan at the College of Art will be presented to the Nautical Sea Training School at Gravesend to mark a similar yearly award from the A.M.C.S.
