■ Below: whatever became of old Roy? You know: the bloke who was in the Pendennis Castle in the winter of 1966-67 as a solo entertainer. Well, it seems after he left the sea poor old Roy Winston fell on very, very hard times. For instance, here he is (at the keyboard) cruelly outnumbered by very demanding Bunnies, playing his Roy Winston Sound at London's Playboy Club. His mate at the back seems to be in pretty bad shape, too. Coming back to sea then, Roy?
