Wanted: Sea PO pictures

Brig. J. A. Hunter, area director Southampton, assisted recently with research for a feature about the UK-South Africa Sea Post Office, 1913-14, which appeared in the Philatelic Journal of Great Britain. This short-lived Sea Post Office provided mail sorting facilities and other postal services aboard Union-Castle ships between Southampton and the Cape, drawing its staff from the Southampton Head Post Office. The feature was written by Bryan Hunt.

CLANSMAN would like to carry extracts from the story in a future issue. But there are no pictures in company archives. Does any reader have old photographs or drawings showing the seagoing postmen?

Thanks for rescue

On October 20, off Cape Henry, Virginia, King Alfred (Capt. G. Beaumont) lowered a lifeboat to pick up the crew of a lobster boat, Golfin G, who had taken to their liferaft when the vessel sank.

B&C (and Capt. Beaumont) have since received letters of thanks from J. A. Hagan Jr., of Richmond, Virginia, who wrote: "In appreciation of the lifeboat crew's very fine seamanship in securing my son Michael, son in law David Boocock, and Allan Cahill, I have made a donation to the Royal National Life Boat Institution in the amount of $120."
